ADDA Awards Luncheon Keynote Speaker
Edward Price, PhD - 52 Year ADDA Member

Design History Continuation

Dr. Price will be speaking for the fifth year, presenting another segment in the history of design. Dr. Price is the longest continuous member of ADDA and has numerous design degrees. His design projects as a Civil Engineer and Professional Designer span nearly six decades. His projects have impacted the world. He received a Nobel Medal for a wastewater management project in Malta. He has dedicated the last two decades working on the worlds largest water detention structure now servicing the City of Chicago Illinois. He is a true master of design and innovation.

Vendors - Exhibitors - Networking

During the four day conference you will have the opportunity to see some of the latest technology. Vendors and Exhibitors from across the country will be demonstrating their product.

Attendees will have the opportunity to network and visit with all the speakers during this time. Each will make themselves available for questions, answers and general career information.
